PART B

COMPREHENSION

[30 marks]

4. Read the following passage carefully and answer all the questions which follow

The tiger, the cheetah and the cat belong to the same family. The tiger is the largest member of the family. Although it is a wild animal, it is sometimes trained to assist acrobats in entertaining people. The cheetah is the fastest animal on land. It can be trained to hunt other animals. Cats are found in many homes but there are wild ones too.

Although cats are found in homes, man did not intentionally domesticate them. Before man learnt to grow crops and rear animals, he used to depend on plants and animals in the bush for food. When he gathered grains which were the seeds of grass, he accidentally took away the food of rodents such as mice and rats. These followed their food indoors. The wild cat, the natural enemy of the rats and mice, also followed them into the domestic granaries.

Cats did not eat the grains that were becoming the main source of nourishment for man. Therefore, they were encouraged to remain at home in order to get rid of the rodents. Man also probably found out that cats were neater and quieter than dogs.

When ships were invented and man began to trade farther, grains were very important commodities. They were used not only as provisions but also as items of barter. The mice and the rats went along, once again followed by the cats. In this way, a food chain that began in the grasslands to the south and east of the Mediterranean Sea has spread to all corners of the world.

(a) (i) What two types of cats are mentioned in the passage?

(ii) How did the cat become a domestic animal?

(b) For what two reasons did man prefer cats to dogs?

(c) What human activity led to the spread of cats to all corners of the world?

(d) (i) …. a food chain. What is referred to as a food chain in the passage?
(ii) Why do you think grains were easily transported to all corners of the world?

(e) Explain, in your own words, the following expressions as used in the passage:
(i) the domestic granaries;
(ii) items of barter;
(iii) all corners of the world.

(f) For each of the following words, give another word or a phrase that means the same and can fit into the passage:
(i) sometimes;
(ii) intentionally;
(iii) gathered;
(iv) nourishment;

This paper consists of three parts: A, B and C. Answer three questions in all; one question from Part A and all the questions in Part B and Part C.

PART A

ESSAY WRITING

[30 MARKS]

Credit will be given for clarity of expression and orderly presentation of material.

Answer one question only from this part
Your composition should be about 250 words

1. Write an article for publication in a national newspaper on the topic, The harmful effects of examination malpractice.

2. As the senior prefect of your school, write a letter to the headteacher, discussing two reasons why the school should instill moral values into the students.

3. Write a speech you would give to the people in your community on how to keep the environment clean.

PART B

COMPREHENSION

[30 marks]

4. Read the following passage carefully and answer all the questions which follow

The academic performance of students in the olden days was golden. Students knew the essence of education and made efforts to achieve excellence. Reading whatever material they came across not only helped in their mental development but also made them self-reliant and confident. Students burned the midnight oil in order to make good grades and to come out of school as better people.

Unfortunately, the same cannot be said of students today. Whatever students achieved in the past is considered archaic. The emergence of improved technology has bedevilled the society. Students prefer staying in touch with their friends and loved ones. The use of social media, such as Facebook, Twitter, WhatsApp and Instagram, has taken over their entire being. Reading useful materials like dailies, storybooks and others is now a thing of the past.

The negative influence of social media has deprived students of achieving excellence. Examination malpractices, mass failure in examinations and bad language have become the order of the day.

Modern technology has its own benefits. In addition to serving as a great tool for businesses, it enables students to access information easily. What is more, it enables easy interaction between friends and loved ones. As much as these are important, students should realize that, without good moral practices, education and reading, the future remains blurred. Students can eradicate the negative effects modern technology has on them if only they remain focused on their academic work.

(a) State two benefits of reading mentioned in the passage.

(b) For what two reasons did students study late into the night in the past?

(c) State two benefits of modern technology.

(d) How can students get rid of the harmful influence of social media?

(e) Explain, in your own words, the following expressions as used in the passage:
(i) burn the midnight oil;
(ii) taken over their entire being;
(iii) the order of the day

(f) For each of the following words, give another word or a phrase that means the same and can fit into the passage:
(i) golden;
(ii) excellence;
(iii) archaic;
(iv) blurred;
(v) eradicate

4. Read the following passage carefully and answer all the questions which follow

Friends are meant to help each other when the need arises. At school, some people develop friendly relationship which continue throughout their lives. One thing which helps people to stay together as intimate friends is the ability to communicate freely among themselves and endeavor to be each other's keeper. What destroys friendships mostly is friends being suspicious of each other. That is why a popular adage says, "Suspicion is the bane of friendship".

People attend school not only because they want to make friends but also to acquire knowledge and skills for employment. Education helps people to be polished in their manners. The school prepares its students to become useful citizens.

At school, Tono was not in the good books of the teachers because he behaved in an unruly manner. Initially, everyone avoided his company; he could be violent at times. Worst of all, he would refuse to do his assignment and was a habitual late comer. With the passage of time, he realized the need to work diligently in order to have a bright future. His academic work therefore improved by leaps and bounds.

Fortune separated us. I travelled abroad for further studies. I stayed away for two decades. On my return, I went to my former school for my certificate. There, I met a middle-age gentleman who also came to the office for the same purpose. I could not recognize him because time had wiped off all memories of school life. However, the names on the certificates revealed that we were classmates.

After further discussions, Tono invited me to be his business partner.

(a) (i) State one thing which helps people to be close.
(ii) How can friendships get destroyed?

(b) Give two reasons why people go to school.

(c) (i) Why did people avoid Tono's company?
(ii) State Tono's reason for visiting his former school.

(d) Why could the writer not recognize Tono?

(e) Explain, in your own words, the following expressions as used in the passage;
(i) was not in the good books of the teachers;
(ii) with the passage of time;
(iii) by leaps and bounds.

(f) For each of the following words, give another word or phrase that means the same, and can fit into the passage:
